Choosing A Major

Many college students face a lot of challenges in their lives. One of the main issues is choosing a major. Many college students are not sure what they want to do for the rest of their lives. It is very important to address this issue because when you have a dream and it does not work out, you have to ask yourself, are you heading in the right direction? Well, if you know you are not, you have to find another path. Life is a challenge and you have to face with many circumstances. Otherwise, you will have a difficult time in the real world. You have to make the right choices.

Making Tough Decisions is the Hardest Thing to do.

On February 28th, 2019, I went to the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Center to have a long discussion about declaring a major with my Counselor. He asked me two questions: “What is your Major?” and “what do you want to do with that major?” My answer was a Visual and Performing Arts major and I wanted to pursue a career in the music industry. My dream was to be a full-time performer and songwriter. He said “Let me tell you, that is not a realistic job.” He encouraged me to change a major which will help me to find a better path. It was hard for me to let go, however, he had a point. The music industry is a tough one to crack because it is not your average job. It is very competitive. Many artists who were in the business, struggle to make ends meet. Trust me, it is a very dirty business. If it was not for Mass Rehab, I would not be where I am today.

On March 18th, 2019, I went to the Admission Office at Worcester State to change my major. My experience in declaring a major was a ticket to ride on the emotional rollercoaster. It was a long ride with a lot of pain and struggle. I was figuring out which major will be appropriate for me. I was very confused and unsure. I was undeclared for six months.

The Better Place

On October 3rd, 2019, after six months of the devastation period, I declared a major. I am currently a Communication major. This major will help me to find a career and challenge me as a person to do something exciting and new. I finally found a better journey because right now, I am more stronger than ever.
